Kurokashi Kobo

Since: 2004
Specialty: Kimono textile

KUROKASHI shows that the traditional textiles used for kimonos can be well woven into today's fashion and products. One of their representative textiles is made with Itaba-yuzen, a dyeing technique in which each color is painted on in a different layer, much in the same way as the silkscreen printing process. Besides providing tailor-made kimono, KUROKASHI pursues unlimited possibility of kimono style and textile. The exhibited Kimono and haori coats are the result of collaboration with Daijiro Hama, the artist who drew the patterns.
